

Unlocking Heraldry for Family Historians

Course Book List

Students often ask us for suggested additional reading for our courses. For most of our courses any additional reading is up to you. For our Intermediate and Advanced Certificate courses, students generally attain higher marks when demonstrating evidence of additional reading and there are some compulsory texts for our Advanced Certificate courses.

Here is some optional further reading for this course, in the form of books that you may want to source before your course starts. There may be additional reading material referenced in the course notes. Of these your tutor particularly recommends John Brooke-Little's revision of Boutell's Heraldry (any edition after 1970). All of the others are specific reference works. You don't need to own any of these for the course but if you do get immersed in Heraldry you will certainly want to have Burke's The General Armory and Papworth's *Ordinary of British Armorial*s.

- T. Arkell, N. Evans & N. Goose, When Death Do Us Part: Understanding and Interpreting the Probate Records of Early Modern England, Leopard's Head Press Ltd, 2004
- Briggs, G. Civic and Corporate Heraldry. Heraldry Today (1971)
- Brooke-Little, J.P. Boutell's Heraldry (Revised Edition). Warne (1970)
- Burke, J.B. The General Armory (1884 reprinted). Heraldry Today (1989)
- Fox-Davies, A.C. Fairbairn's Crests (Revised edition, 2 volumes). Jack (1892)
- Friar, S. Heraldry for the Local Historian and Genealogist. Sutton (1992)
- Huxford, J.F. Honour and Arms. Buckland (1984)
- Papworth, J.W. *Ordinary of British Armorial*s (1874 reprinted). Tabard (1961)
- Pinches, J.H. & R. Royal Heraldry of England. Heraldry Today (1974)
- Summers, P. & Titterton, J.E. Hatchments in Britain (10 volumes). Phillimore (1974-1994)