

Using Printed Sources in Family History

Course Book List

Students often ask us for suggested additional reading for our courses. For most of our courses any additional reading is up to you. For our Intermediate and Advanced Certificates courses, students generally attain higher marks when demonstrating evidence of additional reading and there are some compulsory texts for our Advanced Certificate courses.

Here is some optional further reading for this course, in the form of books that you may want to source before your course starts. There may be additional reading material referenced in the course notes. Note that some of these publications may no longer be in print, but can sometimes be found available from second hand book sellers online, or available to borrow from public libraries.

- Denise Baker, Historical Research Using British Newspapers (Pen & Sword, 2016)
- Maurice Bond, The Records of Parliament: a Guide for Genealogists and Local Historians (Phillimore, 1964)
- H G Cocks, Classified: the secret history of the personal column (Random House, 2009)
- Matthew Engel, Tickle the Public: one hundred years of the popular press (Gollancz, 1996)
- Jeremy Gibson, Local Newspapers 1750-1920 (3rd edition, Family History Partnership)
- Jeremy Gibson, Poll Books 1696-1872: a directory to holdings in Great Britain (4th edition, Family History Partnership)
- Andrew King, The Routledge handbook to nineteenth-century British periodicals and newspapers (Routledge, 2016)